Analyst View:

Rising demand for eco-friendly cleaning products

Growing demand for eco-friendly cleaning products, the presence of toxic chemicals coupled with the bad odor in chemicals has led consumers to shift towards household green cleaning products. Additionally, strong research and development by leading brands are attributing to the growth of the global green cleaning products market. Moreover, competitive advertising, product innovation, and packaging, and brand development, and online availability driving sales are expected to showcase the opportunities for the target market growth. Nevertheless, the prominent players in the market are putting regressive efforts to offer benchmark strategies and innovative offerings in the global green cleaning products market.

Key Market Insights from the report:

The global green cleaning products market accounted for US$ 3.9 billion in 2019 and is estimated to be US$ 11.6 billion by 2029 and is anticipated to register a CAGR of 11.8%. The market report has been segmented on the basis of product type, form, distribution channel, and region.

- By product type, the floor cleaners are expected to register the largest market share whereas the toilet bowl cleaners have the potential to grow the market with the maximum CAGR in the coming period
- By form, the liquids are expected to account for the largest market share while the sprays have the potential to expand the market with the maximum CAGR during the forecast period.
- By distribution channel, the online distribution channel is the fastest expanding segment due to convenience and ease of shopping. Additionally, online platforms such as social media and google ads have played an important role in impelling consumer preferences for purchasing snacks through e-commerce platforms, such as Amazon, Walmart, Auchan, Rakuten, and Grofers. Moreover, the growing penetration of high-speed internet and smartphone users is projected to drive the expansion of the online market in the near future.
- By region, Europe arose as the highest market, with a share of more than 30.0% in 2018 due to substantial growth in consumer awareness regarding hygiene, health, and hazardous environmental impacts of cleaning products in countries including the U.K., Germany, and France.
